

Boveri Realty Group

Boutique: a small business offering specialized products and services. This is the vision Christina Boveri has for her new real-estate business -- Boveri Realty Group--a boutique firm which offers specialized service for a niche market. Her firm will focus on lofts, condos and town homes in the downtown area, from the River Market to the Plaza. She thinks this will offer a great service to customers who need knowledgeable people to help them in selecting a downtown living space. Boveri has also been instrumental in helping people find buildings and rental space downtown.

Boveri thinks it's important that her agents understand the Urban Core's issues and are involved in the civic life of downtown. Only people who are involved are who she wants on her team. "Too many real estate agents sell to the suburbs and areas outside of Kansas City's downtown and they have little working knowledge about the details of current downtown developments or a passion for revitalization," says Boveri.

Before founding her own company, Boveri worked as the marketing agent on the Gillham Row project and the Crestwood project in Brookside. She brings extensive knowledge and experience with her involvement in these projects and her hand in downtown groups such as the Urban Core Group, and the Downtown Council. Boveri says she works hard to help make connections so that downtown businesses can thrive. For example, she acted as a liaison between the new owner of "Curves" that recently opened up downtown, and the Urban Core Group. In order to help the owner of Curves attract customers and investors Boveri arranged for the owner to speak at one of the Urban Core Group's meetings.

Boveri's passion is not just about real estate but also about building relationships in the Urban Core to create a city where we can live, work and play. "Boveri Realty Group will strive to be much more than your average broker. We intend to work hard to ensure that people will enjoy living downtown. This kind of networking is something that I expect out of her agents as well, so that businesses can thrive and people will want to live downtown." To contact Christina Boveri, call 816.333.4545.
